PUBLISHER'S PROTECTIVE CLAUSE

In consideration of publication of any advertisement, the advertiser and the agency, jointly and severally, will indemnify and hold harmless the magazine, its officers, agents, and employees against expense (including legal fees) and losses resulting from the publication of the contents of the advertisement, listing or photo including, without limitations, claims, suits for libel, violation of the right of privacy, copyright infringement or plagiarism.

All accounts are due and payable within 30 days; any additional expense required to collect delinquent accounts will be the responsibility of the advertiser. All accounts handled by a collections agency will include a 35% fee, plus any related legal expenses.

The publisher will hold advertiser liable for payment of all advertising costs and accrued interest as stated in this rate card in the event advertising agency does not remit full amount due within 60 days of publication. All payments must be made in U.S. funds.

The publisher reserves the right, without liability, to accept or reject any advertisement, space reservation or contract at any time, with or without notice to the advertiser.

Under no circumstances shall publisher's liability to advertiser or advertising agency exceed the invoiced cost of the advertising space.
