The Log & Timber Home Shows

Since 1995, Home Buyer Publications has produced more than 140 Log & Timber Home Shows targeting the industry's strongest markets.

These large-scale shows are exciting, fun and lively. They feature two-story exhibits, life-size log and timber frame structures, a variety of furniture and decor, free workshop presentations, and educational demonstration areas.

Deemed our flagship shows, The Log & Timber Home Shows are held in major metropolitan convention centers across the country.

The Log & Timber Home University

For more than 25 years, The Log & Timber Home University (originally The Log Home Building Seminars) has been the leading source for continued education on building a log or timber frame home. This unique and exciting educational branch of The Log & Timber Media Group features both on-site and online webinar courses allowing consumers to choose the option that works best for their location, learning style and schedule.
